DEDICATION BELL---The start of dedication services for the new building of the Southern Baptist Brotherhood Commission at Memphis, Tenn., was sounded with a clang of the bell by Charles Slover, 15-year-old Memphis Royal Ambassador. Playing a leading role in the services were Porter Routh (left), Nashville, executive secretary, Southern Baptist Executive Committee, who accepted the building on behalf of Southern Baptists, and George W. Schroeder, Memphis, Brotherhood executive secretary. The new building will enable the Commission to furnish increased leadership to men's Brotherhood organizations and boys' Royal Ambassador chapters in Southern Baptist churches. Dedication took place Oct. 12. -- (BP)
