House Sends College
Bill To Conference

WASHINGTON (BP)--The House of Representatives, in a 294 to 76 vote, agreed to send the college aid bill to conference with the Senate.

Recently the House rules committee granted a ruling allowing the bill to go to conference on House action. The bill was tied up in the rules committee for three months.

The House version calls for both loans and grants for construction purposes. The Senate bill provides loans only to four-year colleges and a matching grant program for junior colleges.

Private and church-related colleges would be included in both bills. However, both measures prohibit funds for academic facilities used for sectarian instruction, place of worship or in connection with a school or department of divinity.

A major point of difference in the two bills is the scholarship provision included in the Senate version. The House is strongly opposed to this provision.

The House rules committee did not clear the bill for conference until the managers of the House bill gave assurance in public hearing that they would not compromise on the scholarship feature without first giving the House an opportunity to vote on it. That same assurance was given on the floor of the House before members voted to send the bill to conference and named the conferees.

Another difference in the two bills involves aid to church-related colleges. It is known that some Senate leaders are opposed to grants to church colleges included in the House version.

16 Missionaries Serve

ATLANTA (BP)--The son of Italian immigrants enters mission work with Italian-speaking in Florida and a Texas pastor leaves his church to minister to migrant workers across Texas and Oklahoma.

These were among 16 missionaries to be formally appointed here by the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The appointment service, under the sponsorship of the Atlanta Baptist Association Brotherhood, was held at Atlanta's First Baptist Church.

Armando Silverio of Joffre, Pa., who grew up among Italian and Polish peoples in the Pennsylvania coalfields, will serve as language missionary in Tampa, Fla. Leaving a career in business, Silverio sold part of his household goods in order to begin study for the ministry.

A native of Luther, Tex., Lester Vinson will serve as a language missionary to migrants in the Southwest. The son of tenant farmers who worked across Texas during the dust bowl days of the '30's, Vinson entered the ministry while a student at Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Tex., Baptist school. A summer's leave from his church to work as missionary in New Mexico led him to give up his pastorate and enter full-time mission service.
