

Cutlines

Aug. 30, 1966

Baptist Press Photo

ALASKA BAPTIST CONVENTION leaders talk with newly elected executive secretary E. W. Hunke (left) during the annual meeting of the convention. Officers chosen for the coming year are (center, left to right) Oliver Marson, Fairbanks, president; Leo Josey, Anchorage, second vice president; Edward Wolfe, Fairbanks, first vice president. With them is Willie Johnson (right), pastor at Emmonak on the lower Yukon River. (BP PHOTO)

Cutlines (no story)

Aug. 30, 1966

Baptist Press Photo

BRITISH BAPTIST ANSWER TO THE BEATLES: Jancis Harvey, a 22-year-old office secretary and Sunday School teacher at the Baptist church in Great Shelford, near Cambridge, England, communicates Christianity through folk music. Miss Harvey composes and sings modern folk songs with a Christian message. A guitar enthusiast from the age of 16, she says she taught herself to play the guitar because of her love for folk music. Some of her folk songs have been recorded by an evangelical recording studio in London. She has also appeared on the British Broadcasting Corp., singing her gospel folk songs. Recently, she sang and played before a nationwide Baptist youth rally in London. (European Baptist Press Photo)